2020 and facing COVID-19 has been challenging. But this year has also been a time of growth and joy.

The greatest silver lining was being able to educate folx of all genders & colors across the world. We're sharing more stories. We're cultivating more empathy. And we're inspiring more change, one Zoom call at a time!

That change is already happening – With Black Lives Matter protests & the continuing fight against the injustices Black folx face. With the first Black & first South Asian woman in the White House. With the Storytelling Revolution we call Authentic Representation – Radical Representation! – in which BIPOC of marginalized genders share their stories, in their voices.

I know many of us are desperately looking forward to 2021. But a different number on a calendar is not the change we’re looking for. The future is not promised to us; we’ve gotta make it happen. Here's to making 2021 a year of revolution and renewal!

WHAT’S CHANGED

In 2020, we’ve made a few big changes to our mission:

• The inclusion of other BIPOC of marginalized genders (this means non-binary, genderqueer & gender fluid folx as well as trans men)

• A renewed emphasis on prioritizing queer, Disabled and similarly marginalized sub-groups of POC

• Our educational programs now also include classes that enable BIPOC to become their best selves

A refined mission.

Here's a quantitative look at In Full Color’s impact:

Artists Served
Since 2015, we’ve served more than 200 artists – & at least a dozen folx are set to join our roster in 2021!

Cha-Ching!
We paid artists $7,320 in 2020, offering a critical lifeline for many impacted by COVID-19.

New Frontiers
We completed a whopping 78 events or projects in 2020 & reached thousands across America, including folx in new states like Illinois & Mississippi!

A Diverse Roster
Our artists are 90% BIPOC, 75% WOC & at least 20% LGBTQ. (White & male-identified folx often serve in volunteer or support roles)

2020 was a year of remarkable growth.

We also serve the Disabled community, undocumented folx and immigrants.

MAKING MOVES

MAKING A DIFFERENCE
We’ve raised ~$2,000 for Black causes like Black Lives Matter as well as local orgs in our hometown of Jersey City, N.J. & in Minneapolis.

DESTROYING THE PATRIARCHY
We published a new wellness journal with art, poetry & introspective prompts for breaking barriers.
A NEW VIRTUAL VISION

In 2020, we took our programming all online with open mics, an IG live series & more. Here are our biggest virtual wins:

BLOOM VIRTUAL SUMMIT

15 women of color led four days of workshops, networking & performances to benefit In Full Color and our annual mainstage production.

We raised $2,581 dollars -- this meant $1,500 for In Full Color and, combined with other giving, $1,911 for Black Lives Matter.
A NEW VIRTUAL VISION

A NEW VIRTUAL VISION

IFC2020

We took our big annual show online with a cast of 16 from across America! This dynamic virtual program included monologues, poems, music, dance, film & more. We created true artistry & sisterhood through the web.

Our employees were engaged, inspired & deeply touched...The workshop activity was particularly powerful, (giving) employees an opportunity to discuss privilege & empowering others.
- Lumen Technologies, Visit.org partner

This program is excellent for high schools that endeavor to be inclusive & anti-racist. Students will walk away wanting to be more socially responsible in their art.
- Clinnesha D. Sibley, Mississippi School of the Arts teacher

Here are some of the new partners who invited In Full Color into their communities this year.

I really enjoyed the workshops...It was nice to see women empowering each other and lifting each other up!
-- Kathy Hoa, Bloom Virtual Summit audience member

In today’s world, we need to create time & space to hear stories from folx of all identities & more importantly, marginalized voices. To have my students hear these voices & stories was invaluable.
- Adam Miller, Warren Township H.S. teacher
THE YEAR AHEAD

In 2021, we’re going to continue making bold moves!

NEW BLOOD
We’re adding about a dozen brand new artists to our roster! These talented folk will be performing poems, monologues, stories, music, dance & more for our 2021 Touring Season. We’ve also got new pieces by fan favorites rolling out soon.

MORE BLOOM MASTERCLASSES
We know that folk of all backgrounds want to become their best selves. That’s why we’re offering new classes for the general public every month. Upcoming topics include how to stay organized/productive and how to apply to residencies and grants.

MUCHO, MUCHO MÁS
You might have noticed more bilingual content on our Instagram – we’ve got more music, poems & more en español too!
